

Guardsmen Play Hard Game With Outrigger Club Casaba Quintet

Citizen Soldiers Take Long End of 42 to 37 Score From the Surf Contingent

THE hopes of P. Nottage, guide, counselor and friend of the Outrigger team, took a hard and solid bump last night when the National Guard basket ball combine trounced the Outriggers by a score of 42 to 37 in one of the casaba classics of the season.

The timer's whistle was blown just before the score made by Waters, but owing to the noise of the rooters it was not heard. As the game continues until the whistle is blown and heard by the contestants, the goal counted.

Both teams played stellar basketball last night. The Guard had a slight advantage in reach under the basket. The surfers missed Heggelstein, their lanky center, who was not on the job last night. Swan showed his old-time eye for baskets and scored seven free throws without a single failure.

Hoch, Ligda, and Meinecke officiated as referee, timer, and scorer, respectively.

Second Game

In the second game the Navy was outclassed by the All-Chinese, particularly in speed, teamwork, and goal-shooting. It was, however, a keenly contested game from start to finish. It took the winners five minutes to hoop their first score. Navy failed to make any points until within fifteen seconds of the end of the first half. This game puts Navy out of the championship running and leaves the A. C. A. team up in a third-place tie with Outrigger.
